Philadelphia

Henry T. Coates & Co

ILLUSTRATED BY GEORGE GIBBS.

WILLIAM S. WALSH says: "I dare assert that of the historical romances that have lately appeared none is better than 'The Tower of Wye.' It is a joyous story, redolent of youth and spring and the glory of the morning."

PUBLISHED APRIL 30.

"In Search of Mademoiselle."

By GEORGE GIBBS.

ILLUSTRATED BY THE AUTHOR.

CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY says: "Mr. George Gibbs has chosen the most romantic and terrible episode in the whole range of American Colonial annals as the historic basis of his vivid romance. He writes as he paints, with graphic force and spirit."

JOHN HABBERTON writes: "I've read your 'In Search of Mademoiselle' with great interest. I must congratulate you on your success in retaining throughout the novel the old-time atmosphere in which you began. No writer of historical novels has done this better than you; few have done it so well."

NOTES IN SEASON.

HENRY A. DICKERMAN & SON, Boston, have just issued "Frederick Young" a novel of sea-faring life, by Charles Lincoln Phillips.

"EVERY INCH A KING," by Josephine C. Sawyer, is already in its third edition, and is rapidly taking its place as one of the successes of the season. It is published by Dodd, Mead & Co.

R. F. FENNO & Co. have a new historical novel by Francis W. van Praag, entitled "Clayton Halowell," and have practically sold the first edition of 10,000 copies. The book is thoroughly American.

A. MACKEL & Co., New York, issue to-day "The Money Spinner," by Henry Seton Meriman and S. G. Tallentyre, for which the advance orders have been very large. Can be supplied by all jobbers.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have two notable books in Zack's (Miss Gwendoline Keats) "The White Cottage" and Mrs. Wharton's "Crucial Instances." These two authors have a literary gift very rare among women writers.

GEORGE W. JACOBS & Co. issue to-day "A Book of Bryn Mawr Stories," edited by Margaretta Morris and Louise Buffum Congdon; "Psychic Powers in Preaching," by J. Spencer Kennard, edited, with a memoir, by his son, Joseph Spencer Kennard, which is highly recommended by a prominent literary critic.

D. APPLETON & Co. have just ready "Sirius," a new novel by Ellen Thorneycroft Fowler, author of "Concerning Isabel Carnaby," said to be a gallery of vivid miniature of various phases of English life; and "The Play of Man," by Karl Groos, translated by Elizabeth L. Baldwin, and edited with preface and appendix by Prof. J. Mark Baldwin, of Princeton University.

HENRY T. COATES & Co. have just issued "In Search of Mademoiselle," by George Gibbs, the artist, who for the first time tries his hand at fiction. It is a story of that period in the colonization of the new world when the French and Spanish were contending for the possession of Florida. John Habberton and Cyrus Townsend Brady have highly commended this romance for its historical truth and its literary value.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have just issued "A Daughter of New France," by Mary Catherine Crowley, a native of Boston, who has worked on this fine historical novel of the founding of Detroit for nearly seven years. The story deals with La Mothe Cadillac, whom it follows through the greater part of his adventurous career. The approaching 200th anniversary of the founding of Detroit renders the book specially timely.

A. C. MCCLURG & Co. have just issued a comprehensive, scholarly and interesting "History of the American People," by Francis Newton Thorpe, author of "A Constitutional History of the American People." The author has been working on this book for the last nine years, and it contains the fruits of careful examination of original sources, of matured reflection on historical problems and of that practical experience in addressing the public which enables the author to present his subject in the clearest light and in the most attractive manner.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & COMPANY will issue their first large edition of "Joscelyn Cheshire," Mrs. Sara Beaumont Kennedy's charming romance of Revolutionary days in the Carolinas, on May 18. The edition is about exhausted before publication, and the orders flow in. It is said to be a spirited and dramatic story of love and war, with eight fine pictures by H. C. Edwards, and will appear in a very attractive cover of blue, purple and white. "Camera Shots at Big Game," by A. G. Wallihan, with an introduction by Theodore Roosevelt, is also in preparation. The house is offering cash prizes for photographs of outdoor subjects that would come within the scope of their new magazine, Country Life.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Archibald, Ja. F. J. Blue shirt and khaki: a comparison. N. Y., Silver, Burdett & Co., 1901. c. 6-269 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

A comparison between the American soldier as seen in Cuba and the British soldier in South Africa, by one who witnessed both campaigns. The special subjects of discussion are: The new soldier and his equipment; British and American recruits; The common soldier in the field; The officers; American and British tactics; Feeding the two armies; The railroad in modern war; Transportation of troops by sea; Last days of the Boer capital; The British in Pretoria.

Baker, Mrs. L. A., ["Alien," pseud.] Another woman's territory. N. Y., T: Y. Crowell & Co., [1901.] c. 8+315 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Whether it is any worse to take the goods of others, than to take the ideas of another, is the subject of this novel. A man of talent but not of genius is given a manuscript to read, by another man, whom the conviction of crime has made dead to the world. The first man publishes the book as his own; it brings him fame and money. Two women are concerned in the story, which is chiefly a character study. Scene laid in Australia.

*Banks, Louis Albert. Unused rainbows; prayer meeting talks. Chic. and N. Y., Revell, 1901. c. 194 p. 12°, cl., $1.

Ohnet, Georges. In deep abyss: a novel. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls Co., 1901. c. 3-421 p. D. cl., net, $1.20.

The scenes are laid in Paris, San Francisco, London, and elsewhere. Most of the characters are typical of French life, gay and grave. A principle is enunciated at the beginning of the book: the fallibility of human judgment "even in those whose profession it is to pass sentence and who are consequently in a position to boast of special experience"—thus the possibility of legal error. The plot of the story reveals a sensational instance of such legal error, and the reader is taken through many stirring events, and made to share in many strong emotions.

Outhwaite, R. L., and Chomley, C. H. The wisdom of Esau. N. Y., Cassell, [1901.] c. 2+344 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The hero is John Toland, a resolute but honorable man, who goes to settle in the remote parts of Victoria, and comes into sharp conflict with corrupt officials evading the land law. Besides there are love episodes, a terrible bush fire and vivid descriptions of Australian life and scenery.

*Ovies, Blanca de. Psycho-palmistry key: a complete series of lesson talks on the science of palmistry. soul science, mental science, occultism and its separate departments, hands and readings of celebrities of all walks of life, diagnosis of disease, and palmistry of the Bible. Pan-American ed. Erie, Pa., and N. Y., Erie Lithographing and Printing Co., [1900.] c. 336 p. il. por. 8°, cl., $2.50.

Palmer, J: Williamson. For Charlie's sake, and other lyrics and ballads. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls Co., [1901.] c. [May 1.] 6-95 p. D. cl., net, $1.

Phelps, E: J: Orations and essays of Edward John Phelps, diplomat and statesman; ed. by J. G. McCullough, with a memoir by J: W. Stewart. N. Y., Harper, 1901. c. [May 6.] 14+475 p. por. O. cl., net, $3.50.

The subjects of the orations and addresses are:

The Bennington Centennial; Chief Justice Marshall; United States Supreme Court and the sovereignty of the people; Law as a profession; The relation of law to justice: Law of the land; International relations; Farewell to England; Samuel Prentiss; Isaac F. Redfield; The Monroe doctrine; Equitable estoppel. The essays relate to: The Constitution of the United States; The choice of presidential electors; Bryce's American commonwealth; The Bering Sea controversy; The age of words. Mr. Phelps was United States Minister to Great Britain.

Phillips, C: Lincoln. Frederick Young: a novel. Bost., H: A. Dickerman & Son, [1901.] c. 1900, '01. 9+401 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

The principal incident is the sinking of a ship by dynamite, the dynamite being exploded by an ingenious machine that could be set to run any number of days. The object of the crime is to kill the hero who is returning to New York from Australia to marry the girl of his choice. The criminal is a rival.

Phillipotts, Eden. The good red earth. N. Y., Doubleday, Page & Co., [1901.] c. 3+328 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The scene of this novel is the west of England. "Sibella," in whom the love interest of the tale centres, is a charmingly natural figure, but the main-spring of the book is "Alpheus Newt," the unctuous ex-pedlar, lay-preacher, and hypocrite, with his Pecksniffian virtue and his irresistible flow of words.

Praga, Mrs. Alfred. Easy French dishes for English cooks. N. Y., M. F. Mansfield & Co., [1901.] [May 6.] 8+145 p. S. cl., $1.25.

Quiggan, J: The adventures of John McCue—socialist (with acknowledgments to John Gilpin—Londoner), in comic verse and serious prose. N. Y., John Quiggan, 1901. c. 1900-'01. 64 p. D. pap., 25 c.

John McCue is a stalwart Celt, whose enthusiasm for social and political reform takes him into the kingdom of Bling-Blang-Blung. Here ensue a series of adventures in his attempt to crown himself king.

*Riggs, Wilfred L. A manual of osteopathic manipulations and treatment. Elkhart, Ind., New Science Pub. Co., 1901. c. 157+7 p. il. 12°, cl., $1.25.

Robertson, Morgan. Masters of men: a romance of the new navy. N. Y., Doubleday, Page & Co., 1901. c. 6+335 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The story of Richard Halpin, able seaman, his superior officer, Lieutenant Breen, and the tangled skein of their love affairs. The story offers a true picture of an American seaman's life to-day.

Robinson, C: Mulford. Improvement of towns and cities; or, the practical basis of civic æsthetics. N. Y., Putnam, 1901. c. 12+309 p. D. cl., net, $1.25.

Not only discusses the subjects of improvement of towns and cities, but reviews the whole broad field of modern effort, picks out the salient points, declares the best that has been done along every line, and encourages future effort by showing the progress attainable because somewhere attained.

Russell, Rev. Matthew. Life of Mother Mary Baptist Russell, Sister of Mercy. N. Y., The Apostleship of Prayer, 1901. c. 2-187 p. por. S. cl., 75 c.; hf. mor., $1.50.

*Sergi, G. The Mediterranean race: a study of the origin of European peoples. N. Y., Scribner, [imported,] 1901. 12+320 p. 12°, (Contemporary sci. ser.) cl., $1.50.

Shakespeare, W: [Works.] Beginner's Shakespeare; Comedy of the winter's tale; abridged and ed. by Sarah Willard Hiestand; il. after drawings by Hamilton, Opie and others. Bost., Heath, 1901. c. 9+132 p. por. D. (Heath's home and school classics, no. 16.) cl., 25 c.; pap., 15 c.

Shakespeare, W: [Works.] Beginner's Shakespeare; Comedy of errors; abridged and ed. by Sarah Willard Hiestand; il. after drawings by Sir J: Gilbert. Bost., Heath, 1901. c. 10+74 p. D. (Heath's home and school classics, no. 15.) cl., 25 c.; pap., 15 c.

Sly, Winfield Scott. Anneeti, the gypsy artist; il. from life: [a story.] Lansing, Mich., published by the author, Winfield Scott Sly, 1901. c. 179 p. D. cl., $1; Souvenir ed., $1.25.

Smith, Egbert Watson, D.D. The creed of Presbyterians. N. Y., Baker & Taylor Co., [1901.] c. 3-223 p. D. cl., 60 c.

The author calls this "an attempt to answer the questions which laymen are continually asking as to just what the creed itself is, its characteristics, its history and sanction." Its topics are "The creed formulated," "The creed tested by its fruits," "The creed illustrated," and "The creed's Catholicity."

Smith, G: H. Logic; or, the analytic of explicit reasoning. N. Y., Putnam, 1901. c. 13+266 p. D. cl., net, $1.25.

Mr. Smith differs from many logicians of to-day who regard logic as a purely formal science, concerned only with the form and not with the matter or thought expressed. The author claims that logic does deal with the matter as well as with the form of thought and of its expression, and that it embraces in its scope everything that relates to the right use of words.

Stannard, Mrs. Henrietta Eliza Vaughan, ["John Strange Winter," pseud.] The career of a beauty: a novel. Phil., Lippincott, 1901. c. 389 p. D. cl., $1.25.
A love story, with an English setting.

Stoddard, W: Osborne. Montanye; or, the slavers of old New York. Phil., H: Altamus Co., 1901. c. 356 p. O. cl., $1.

New York City in 1783 is the scene of this story of love and war. "Montanye" is a corruption of Montaigne, the name of an old New York family, who actually owned the land given them in the story. It is now a part of Central Park.

Thayer, Ja. Bradley. John Marshall. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1901. c. 4+157 p. por. S. (Riverside biographical ser., no. 7.) cl., 75 c.; School ed., net, 50 c.

Tomlinson, Everett Titsworth. Old Fort Schuyler. Phil., American Baptist Pub. Soc., 1901. c. 4-296 p. il. D. (Blue and Buff ser., no. 2.) cl., $1.25.

The story of the siege of Fort Schuyler in 1777; two brothers of sixteen and eighteen years take part in it; for young people.

Torrey, Bradford. Every day birds; elementary studies; 12 il. in color after Audubon and 2 from photographs. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1900. c. 1901. 4+106 p. D. cl., $1.

Brief biographies of familiar birds—shrikes and humming-birds, chickadees and tanagers, flickers and bitterns, and jays, etc.

Train, Eliz. Phipps. A queen of hearts. Phil., Lippincott, 1901. c. '97. 2-280 p. D. (Lippincott's select novels, no. 240.) cl., $1; pap., 50 c.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ALBANY, N. Y.—John E. Scopes has just come to Albany as a "new" old bookseller, and has established himself at 29 Tweedle Building.

ALBANY, N. Y.—The George V. Blackburn Co. has been incorporated with a capital of $25,000, to publish books. The directors are: George V. Blackburn, of New York, K. L. Defosse, of Catskill, and Joseph T. Reiley, of Albany.

CINCINNATI, O.—H. S. Smith, book publisher, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, placing his liabilities at $134,780.73 and his assets at about $100. He was for many years at the head of the Historical Publishing Company, of Philadelphia, and recently has been manager of the Jones Brothers Company, in Cincinnati.

GREELEY, COL.—G. W. Morgan has bought E. B. Coulter's book and stationery store.

LEBANON, O.—March Brothers, 48 East Mulberry Street, after June 1 will devote their entire attention to their own publications. They have disposed of their stock of books and stationery to J. S. Morris, and of their wall paper and picture frames to C. S. Koogle.

SCRANTON, PA.—M. Norton, bookseller and stationer, was entirely burned out on September 15, 1894, and again on February 7, this year. He has now taken new quarters at 138 Wyoming Avenue, and is ready to serve old patrons and friends from a new stock of goods, wall papers, window shades, room mouldings, artists' materials, blank books and stationery, all the new and late miscellaneous books, all the periodicals and newspapers.

SOMERSWORTH, N. H.—Herbert L. Bedell has bought A. W. Durgin's book, stationery and periodical business.

TROY, N. Y.—The Pafraets Book Company has been incorporated by A. Brewster, C. Howard Nash and Harry S. Ludlow. Capital, $25,000.

VICKSBURG, MISS.—Sterne's Book Store has been incorporated with a capital stock of $10,000.

WALLA WALLA, WASH.—H. C. Truax, bookseller, has turned over his property for the benefit of his creditors.

WEST SUPERIOR, WIS.—Russell Brothers, booksellers and stationers, will move their store this month to larger and more commodious quarters on Twelfth Street.

WINNIPEG, MANITOBA.—F. B. Bagshaw has bought Robertson & Bagshaw's book and stationery business.

LIBRARIES AND THE NET RATE.

MR. MELVIL DEWEY, who is the pioneer of progress in the library movement, and sometimes gets a good way ahead of the procession, suggested some time since that the local library might well take the place of the local book store, and make the latter unnecessary, by taking and transmitting orders for books. The suggestion was not favorably received by the library profession, and many of its leading members promptly saw that this plan had the double disadvantage of loading upon the librarian and the staff work which did not belong to them, and of causing public money in salaries and wages to be paid for the transaction of essentially private business. Mr. Dewey's argument was that, since the public could see most of the current books at the library, there was no need for the bookseller to bother with a stock, and that it would be little additional trouble for the library clerks to receive orders and forward them to the publisher. Whether the library was to be recouped for this work by making a profit was not considered in his suggestion, but it is evident that either the cost of doing this retail business must be paid to the library, by its taking over the bookseller's profit in some form, or the private work must be done at the public expense. The argument of Mr. Dewey could be extended logically in more than one direction: the library might also sell paper, pens, ink, and other stationery, newspapers and periodicals generally, and so on ad lib., and the public market might give over charging rent for the stalls and engage butcher and grocer clerks to dispense the necessities of life at cost price to the public.

Most librarians will continue to recognize that the book store and the public library should not be rivals, but associates in the work of educating the public through books. The reader at the public library should be, so far as his means permit, the best customer of the bookseller, for the habit of reading and reference grows upon one, and the public library cannot and should not supersede the private collection of reference and recreative books. It simply gives larger opportunity and wider range than is possible in the private collection, and also furnishes reading for those who are not yet in a position to become owners of books. The book store still has its function, and the more the public libraries grow, the more should the bookselling trade grow with them.

While few libraries, if any, will follow Mr. Dewey in his radical suggestion, there will doubtless be widespread opposition on the part of libraries to the publishers' plan and the net rate, which indeed will be made a subject for discussion at the approaching annual conference of the American Library Association at Waukesha, July 3. Libraries have been large buyers of books, and buyers for the public benefit; on these two grounds they have been accustomed to expect the largest discount, often practically the same discount which the publisher gave to the bookseller himself. This, of course, has taken library business from the local bookseller and concentrated it in the hands of the publisher or of a library agent at large centres. The publishers' plan proposes that library discounts on net books should be limited to 10 per cent., the only exception at all, in fact, from the net price, thus giving equal advantages to the local dealer and the library agent. The reduction of price in connection with the net rate and the 10 per cent. library discount will bring actual prices somewhat near to present library rates, but will not in all cases make a price as low as the present price on the same lines of books. The difference will be the remuneration of the book trader for his professional service, probably less than the salary of a capable librarian in his town. The library would not expect to get its stationery without paying the dealer a business profit on his goods, and ought not to expect to get books except at a fair price. There should be a clear and cordial understanding between the book trade and the library profession on this point, and we hope that personal consultation between publishers and booksellers and librarians and the general discussion which is to take place at the Library Conference will result in reconciliation of interests which ought to go hand in hand in the education of the community.

CANADIAN COPYRIGHT.

WE reprint from the University of Toronto Monthly a very ably written account of the recent history of the law of copyright in Canada by Prof. James Mavor. The article reads as follows:

I have much pleasure in responding to the wish of the editors of the University of Toronto Monthly that I should give a short account of the recent history of the law of copyright in Canada. The complexity of the subject, however, renders it very hard to make a brief statement which would in any sense be also a clear and adequate one.<sup>1</sup>

The British Copyright Act of 1842, following the example of the Act of Ann of 1709 (8 Ann, ch. 21) extended copyright to the whole of Her Majesty's dominions, but did not grant to the colonies the right to give copyright throughout the Empire for books first published in the colonies. The International Copyright Act of 1886 (49 and 50 Vict., ch. 33) extended copyright in the United Kingdom to books first published in the colonies exactly as if they had been published in the United Kingdom. A book published anywhere in the Empire thus enjoyed copyright throughout the Empire. During the period in which the Copyright Act of 1842 was alone the law on the subject, that is, from 1842 until 1847, the conditions of the book trade in the United Kingdom rendered the publication of comparatively expensive editions the rule. Circulating libraries were the principal customers, and it was to the interest of these to keep the prices of books high. Meanwhile the demand for English books in the United States led to the reprinting of books there in a cheap form without, as a rule, any compensation being paid to the authors or owners of the copyrights in Great Britain. The facility with which these cheap reprints could be introduced into Canada, in infringement of copyright, led to demands on the part of the British North American Provinces that some arrangement should be made for the reprinting in Canada of books in regard to which copyright subsisted in Great Britain. As understood at the time, the law of copyright did not permit the owner of a copyright to assign any part of his right without assigning the whole of it; and thus, even if Canadian publishers had been willing to buy the right to reprint in Canada, no effective transfer of this right could have been made.<sup>2</sup>

In order, at least partially, to remedy this grievance the Colonial Copyright Act (10 and 11 Vict., ch. 96) was passed in 1847. This Act was devised specially to meet the case of Canada, and under it the Queen was authorized to allow by Order-in-Council the introduction of foreign reprints into any colony which undertook to provide for the payment of a certain royalty to the author. Nineteen British colonies availed themselves of the Act which came to be known as the Foreign Reprints Act. During the ten years which followed the passing of the Act Canada paid about $5000 under its provisions, while the remaining colonies paid only $350, seven of them paying nothing at all.

In 1865 there was passed the Colonial Laws Validity Act (28 and 29 Vict., ch. 63) which declared to be void any Act of a Colonial Legislature which was repugnant to any Act of the Imperial Parliament.

In 1867 the B.N.A. Act, in Section 91, specifies copyright among the subjects which are to be within the exclusive legislative authority of the Parliament of Canada. This provision has been the occasion of prolonged controversy between the Dominion Parliament and the Colonial Office. The law officers of the Crown in Canada have held that by this provision it was intended that Canada should have complete autonomy in copyright legislation; while the law officers of the Crown in England have held that the provision referred only to the authority of the Dominion Parliament as distinguished from the authority of the Provincial legislatures, and that autonomy in relation to Imperial Acts upon the copyrights was not implied.<sup>3</sup>

Meanwhile the working of the Foreign Reprints Act of 1847 had resulted in widespread dissatisfaction in England and in Canada alike.<sup>4</sup>

In consequence of this dissatisfaction it was proposed, in 1869, that the Governor-General-in-Council should grant licenses to Canadian publishers to publish English books on payment of a royalty or excise duty of 12½ per cent. to the author, the publication being made with or without his consent. Objections were made to this proposal, and it was dropped.

In 1873 and 1874 a correspondence took place between the Colonial Office and Mr. Mackenzie, then Premier of Canada, and the result was an Act which was passed in 1875, giving power to any person domiciled in any part of the Empire to obtain copyright in Canada for twenty-eight years, with a second term of fourteen years, the condition being that the book should be printed and published or reprinted and republished in Canada. Under Section 15 "Nothing in the Act shall be held to prohibit the importation from the United Kingdom of copies of such works legally printed there."

"The practical effect of the Canadian Act of 1875 was to exclude, during the term of Canadian copyright, foreign reprints of such

<sup>2</sup> The causes of this dissatisfaction are set forth in detail in the report of the Copyright Commission, 1897. In 1895, Sir John Thompson gave notice that he intended to cease collecting the royalty. This notice was carried into effect practically without protest.

<sup>3</sup> The original Act is to be found in Statutes of Canada, 39 Vict., Vol. I., p. xxi., out of its proper order in the Statutes, as it was a Reserved Act. It is properly described as 38 Vict., ch. 88.

<sup>1</sup> In these notes I have drawn largely upon a private memorandum of Lord Thring, who drafted the recent English Copyright Bills; and upon a letter of my own to Sir John Bourinot, which is published in the "Transactions of the Royal Society of Canada," Vol. VI., Appendix A., page II.

<sup>2</sup> See opinion of Lord St. Leonards, "Jeffrey v. Roosey," IV., H. of L. Repts., p. 815. This opinion has, however, since been overruled.

books if they obtained the benefit of the special Canadian copyright by being published and printed in Canada.<sup>90</sup>

Doubts having arisen regarding the validity of this Act owing to its alleged repugnance to the Order-in-Council passed in accordance with the Foreign Reprints Act, an enabling Act was passed by the Imperial Parliament (The Canada Copyright Act, 1875, 38 and 39 Vict., ch. 53). A clause was, moreover, inserted into this Act at the instance of the British publishing interests prohibiting the introduction into Great Britain of Canadian reprints. The Canadian Act of 1875, thus rendered valid, appears now with immaterial formal alterations as 49 Vict., ch. 62, and R.S.C. ch. 62, and this Act, with the Statute passed in 1900, constitutes the Canadian law on the subject.

The discussions upon colonial copyright continued in England; and in 1876 a commission was appointed which sat for three years and reported finally in 1879. The commission recommended that should the owner of a copyright in England refrain from availing himself of the provisions of the colonial copyright law, that the colonial authorities might be permitted to grant a license to republish the work in the colony upon payment of a royalty to the author. This proposal did not, however, meet with favor in England, and it was not adopted.

A bill, consolidating the law of copyright, was introduced into the Imperial Parliament in 1881, but it did not become law, and since then there has been no government measure on the subject.

In 1885 the Berne Convention was held, and an international understanding arrived at regarding copyright. This understanding was homologated by the International Copyright Act of 1886 (49 and 50 Vict., ch. 33), which, with the relative Order-in-Council of 22d November, 1887, constitutes the present law on the subject. Canada assented to the agreement arrived at by the Berne Convention, but Sir John Thompson explained in his report on copyright to the Governor-General-in-Council of 7th February, 1894, that the reasons why the Canadian Government gave its assent were, first, that Canada could withdraw from the convention on giving a year's notice, and second, that confidence was felt that some amelioration of the situation was likely to be obtained.

In 1889 the Parliament of Canada passed an Act substantially following the recommendation of the English Copyright Commission of 1876-79 as regards compulsory licensing. This Act bore that it should come into force by proclamation of the Governor-General-in-Council. It came to be well understood that the royal assent would be withheld and thus the Act, though never formally disallowed, did not become operative.

In 1891, and again in 1894, the Canadian Government gave formal notice to the Imperial Government that Canada desired to withdraw from the Berne Convention. This action was discountenanced by the Imperial Government and Canada did not persist in the demand for the withdrawal. In 1891 the United States passed a new copyright law which in effect was the result of an agreement between Great Britain and the United States. The view then came to be held in England that to grant freedom of copyright legislation to Canada would prejudice the new understanding with the United States, and would also be likely to result in the withdrawal of Canada from the Berne Convention. This view undoubtedly contributed to the impasse into which the subject fell in 1891, and in which it continued until the recent Canadian legislation.

The view of the English authorities was briefly that to grant Canada what she asked would involve the abandonment of international and imperial copyright to which Canada had been understood to give her assent only a few years before. This position was fortified by the opinion of the Law Officers of the Crown in England of two successive and opposed administrations to the effect that without an enabling Act of Imperial Parliament Canada had no power to legislate upon copyright, except as regards books first published in Canada. Matters were in this position when Sir John Thompson died. Had he lived, it is highly probable that he would have found in 1894 some way out of the difficulty. His death, and the almost equally sudden death of Lord Herschell, who had introduced a new copyright bill into the House of Lords in 1898, postponed any settlement.

Meanwhile, in 1895, the Authors' Society of Great Britain represented by Mr. Hall Caine, the Copyright Association of Great Britain represented by Mr. F. R. Daldy, and the Canadian Copyright Association represented by Mr. J. Ross Robertson and Mr. Dan. A. Rose, made a joint attempt to settle the question by means of a measure known as the Hall Caine Bill, which was drawn on the lines of the bill of 1889. The principal point of the bill was a system of licensing and payment of royalty to the owners of a copyright involving the republication in Canada with or without the consent of the authors or owners of the copyright under certain conditions of works first published in Great Britain.

The complicated character of this measure prevented its immediate acceptance or rejection; and the change of government in Canada again led to the postponement of a settlement.

While these events were occurring the situation in the book trade was undergoing extensive alteration. The policy of publishing small editions of books at high prices instead of larger editions at comparatively low prices came to be doubted by some of the leading publishers. Several attempts to carry out the opposite policy resulted so successfully that by about 1896 the three-volume novel published at thirty-one shillings and sixpence had been wholly replaced by the one-volume novel at six shillings. The enlargement of the editions rendered the use of stereotype plates at once economical and convenient. And the use of stereotype plates which might be readily produced, rendering printing at different centres economical and convenient also. English books came to be printed in Holland, in the United States and elsewhere from plates manufactured in England.

In Canada the practice grew up with regard to books first printed in the United States from plates manufactured there. The benefits of Canadian copyright extending to the printing of books in Canada from plates as well as from types led to editions being printed in Canada which could not otherwise have been printed there. The advantage to the Canadian printing, binding and paper trades soon became very obvious.

The practice of printing from plates was, however, only rarely resorted to in the case of books first published in Great Britain, for the reason that, owing to the operation of the Canadian Copyright Act, there was no power on the part of a Canadian publisher to buy the right to the exclusive control of the Canadian market as regards any book copyrighted in Great Britain which he might wish to print in Canada. Without this exclusive control of the Canadian market, it was not worth his while, in many cases, to print at all; in cases where he did print a Canadian edition, he incurred the risk of the English edition being sent in to compete against it, even although as effectually as he could do so he had contracted with the English publisher for the Canadian market.

It was, of course, not to the interest of the British publisher to compete directly with his own customers in this way; but a large part of the colonial book trade is in the hands of firms known as "jobbers," who purchase large quantities of books from the publishers and ship these to the colonial markets. They are entitled to do this, irrespective of any conditional contract between the British and the Canadian publisher.

It appeared, then, that what was wanted was power on the part of the British publisher to grant a license to print in Canada, which license should carry with it the right to exclude copies of the book to which it applied, other than those printed under its provisions, from being imported into Canada without the consent of the licensee. If such a provision were made, the licensee could then securely print his Canadian edition, and put it upon the market by means of advertisement and otherwise at such prices as competition with other books might determine, without the risk of his being deprived of this market by the wholesale importation of copies of the English edition. It came to be thought by some that if legislation could be obtained to give effect to this idea, that the ghost of copyright would be laid, at all events, for a time.

In 1899, owing to the considerable growth in numbers of persons in Canada who were actively engaged in the profession of literature, it was proposed to form an Authors' Society for the purpose of promoting the interests of authors, and of concerting action to safeguard these interests. In February, 1899, such a society was formed, Mr. Goldwin Smith being elected Honorary President, and the Hon. G. W. Ross President. One of the first topics which engaged the attention of the society was the question of copyright. Several members devoted themselves to a study of its complexities, and arrived at the conclusion that the state of the law as it then stood was decidedly inimical to the interests of British and of Canadian authors alike. So long as no separate market existed in Canada it was clear that Canada as a book market had no independent value, and that therefore not only the publishing business in Canada must be conducted insecurely, but authors everywhere must suffer disadvantage from this insecurity. For Canadian authors to receive adequate recognition in their own country it became obvious that the publishing business should be given a reasonable opportunity. The condition of authorship in the United States prior to the propaganda carried on there in favor of copyright legislation by the authors as contrasted with the condition of authorship now, encouraged the belief that vigorous efforts in obtaining reform of the copyright law in Canada would result beneficially for authors, publishers and the public alike.

An excellent memorandum upon the subject was prepared and read by the Hon. G. W. Ross, to whose influence and energy the successful issue of the legislation is very largely due. The attitude of the Authors' Society towards the question is clearly laid down in this memorandum and in other statements made by various members. The society sought to leave the constitutional question undisturbed, and to endeavor to find a modus vivendi by means of which specific remedies might be found for specific evils. The various interests in Canada were consulted and conciliated, and it remained to negotiate with the British publishers, authors and legislative authorities.

As I happened to be going to England early in the summer of 1899, the society asked me to undertake these negotiations. After discussions with the authorities at the Colonial Office, with some members of the Authors' Society in London, and with the leading publishers, I was invited to attend the International Congress of Publishers which met in London in June. I found a perfectly unanimous opinion among the members that the Berne Convention should be maintained, and that any withdrawal from it would be greatly to be deplored. A resolution moved by Mr. Longman, of Messrs. Longmans, Green & Co., endorsing the proposal of the Canadian Authors' Society was unanimously adopted.

A few weeks afterwards I was invited by the House of Lords' Committee on Copyright to give evidence before it. The result of these various negotiations was the insertion of a clause in Lord Monkswell's bill explicitly giving powers to Canada to pass a measure upon the principle suggested.

In October, 1899, Mr. G. H. Thring and Mr. Gilbert Parker, representing the Authors' Society of Great Britain, came out to Canada and had some interviews with the ministers on the subject. They are understood to have endorsed the suggested legislation.

Towards the close of the parliamentary session of 1900 the bill, as suggested by the Canadian Authors' Society, was brought in by Mr. Fisher, and was found to be generally acceptable, several public bodies sending resolutions in its favor.

While successful efforts had been made, as described, to secure approval of the measure in England, and thus to avoid and possibility of disallowance, the amour propre of Canada was not injured on account of the circumstance that the constitutional aspects of the case did not require to be discussed.

There can be no doubt that the passing of the Canadian measure has put an end to the deadlock which has existed for twenty years, and it is to be hoped that the effect of its provisions upon literature and upon publishing in Canada will justify the efforts which were made to pass it.

THE FIFTH BOOK OF RABELAIS.

It was recently announced from Munich that Louis Rosenthal, antiquarian bookseller of that city, had discovered a hitherto unknown edition of the doubtful fifth book of "Gargantua and Pantagruel," printed in 1549, during the lifetime of Rabelais. This alleged "find" is the subject of a careful descriptive article by Jacques Brice in the Revue Bibliographique for March, which gives reduced facsimiles of title-page and a page of text, full collation of chapter-headings and rubrics, and several extracts from the text. The arguments for and against authenticity are given, the chief sceptics being MM. Léopold Delisle and Henri Stein. Their opinion is formed by a careful reading of the text, which they believe is not the work of Rabelais, or indeed of any Rabelaisian. It is also believed that if the edition was really authentic it could not have been overlooked by the author of the posthumous edition of 1564, which would therefore have been called the sixth book and not the fifth. The fact that the fourth book bears date of January, 1552, also militates against the authenticity of a fifth book dated two years earlier. These arguments are answered by the supporters of the Rosenthal copy, who raise the usual questions as to the authenticity of the edition of 1564, and point out that the newly-discovered fifth book might easily have been purposely omitted by Rabelais from the first collective edition of 1553.

This fifth book of Rabelais has long been a centre of controversy. The edition of 1564—the earliest until the Rosenthal discovery—appeared eleven years after Rabelais' death, and not long after it was asserted to be apocryphal. The great Rabelais student, Paul Lacroix, finally accepted it as genuine, and his decision was followed by the majority of critics, though there remain those who believe it to be the clumsy production of an inferior imitator. M. Brice, in stating both sides of this new controversy, carefully abstains from an expression of opinion, "persuaded that the elements of the problem are too complicated for absolute certitude." He expresses the hope that later discoveries regarding the volume, such as the place of printing, "will perhaps permit a closer approach to the truth."

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

IMPORTATION OF COPYRIGHTED BOOKS.

THE following regulations regarding importation of copyright books and joint directions to the Treasury and Post-Office departments are issued in circular form by the Government, being reprinted from the recent volume of "Customs Regulations of the U. S.":

ART. 613. Copyrighted books and articles, the importation of which is prohibited by Section 4956, Revised Statutes, as amended by Section 3 of the act of March 3, 1891, shall not be admitted to entry. Such books and articles, if imported with the previous consent of the proprietor of the copyright, shall be seized by the collector of customs, who will take the proper steps for the forfeiture of the goods to the United States under Section 3082, Revised Statutes.

Treasury Decisions 10269, Oct. 8, 1890; 11098, May 2, 1891; 11436, July 3, 1891; 11449, July 9, 1891; 11617, Aug. 11, 1891; 14898, Apr. 20, 1894; 15664, Feb. 28, 1895; 16046, May 14, 1895; 16739, Feb. 3, 1896; 17454, Oct. 13, 1896; 17885, Mar. 11, 1897; 20430, Dec. 16, 1898; 21003, Apr. 13, 1899; 21012, Apr. 17, 1899.

ART. 614. Copyrighted books and articles imported contrary to said prohibition and without the previous consent of the proprietor of the copyright, being primarily subject to forfeiture to the proprietor of the copyright, shall be detained by the collector, who shall forthwith notify such proprietor in order to ascertain whether or not he shall institute proceedings for the enforcement of his right to the forfeiture.

ART. 615. If the proprietor institute such proceedings and obtain a decree of forfeiture, the goods shall be delivered to him upon payment of the expenses incurred in the detention and storage, and the duties accrued thereon. If such proprietor shall fail to institute such proceedings within 60 days from date of notice, or shall declare in writing that he abandons his right to the forfeiture, then the collector shall proceed as in the case of articles imported with the previous consent of such proprietor.

ART. 616. Copyrighted articles, the importation of which is not prohibited, but which, by virtue of Section 4965, Revised Statutes, as amended by Section 8 of said act, are forfeited to the proprietor of the copyright when imported without his previous consent, and are moreover subject to the forfeiture of $1 or $10 per copy, as the case may be, one-half thereof to the said proprietor and the other half to the use of the United States, shall be taken possession of by the collector, who shall take the necessary steps for securing to the United States half the sum so forfeited, and shall keep the goods in his possession until a decree of forfeiture is obtained, and the half of the sum so forfeited, as well as the duties and charges accrued, are paid; whereupon he shall deliver the goods to the proprietor of the copyright. Duties collected on prohibited copyrighted articles cannot be refunded.

Treasury Decision 19722, July 22, 1898.

In case of failure to obtain a decree of forfeiture, the goods shall be admitted to entry.

TREASURY AND POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT REGULATIONS.

ART. 617. For the purpose of carrying into effect the provision in Section 4965, Revised Statutes, as amended by the copyright acts of March 3, 1891, and March 2, 1895, which prohibits the importation of musical compositions duly copyrighted thereunder, and under the authority conferred by Section 4958, Revised Statutes, as amended, which provides that "the Secretary [of the Treasury] and Postmaster-General are hereby empowered and required to make and enforce such rules and regulations as shall prevent the importation into the United States except upon the conditions above specified, of all articles prohibited by this act," the following regulations are promulgated for the government of the officers of the customs and of the postal service viz:

Treasury Decision 19514, June 21, 1898.

ART. 618. Inasmuch as under paragraph 403, act of July 24, 1897, music in books or sheets, except in certain specified cases, is liable to customs duty, postmasters are instructed to carefully examine the mails from foreign countries and to forward all musical publications found therein to the nearest customs officer. Customs officers are instructed to keep a close watch for matter imported through the usual channels in violation of the copyright act.

Treasury Decision 20490, Jan. 4, 1899.

ART. 619. Upon receipt of such matter from postmasters or in the usual channels, customs officers will proceed to collect, in the regular manner, the duty on all such matter as is properly admissible, and shall hold all music in books or sheets imported in violation of any copyright of the United States, and notify by mail the owner of the copyright and the owner, importer, or consignee of the prohibited articles, or the person to whom addressed.

ART. 620. If within three months from the mailing of the notice the owner of the copyright shall not institute proceedings for forfeiture of such articles under the provisions of Section 4965, Revised Statutes, as amended by the act of March 2, 1895 (28 Stat., 965), or the owner or importer of the prohibited articles, or the person to whom addressed, shall not appear and show cause to the contrary, the customs officer is directed to burn or otherwise destroy the prohibited articles.

DECISION IN RE "THE LITTLE MINISTER."

THROUGH a decision given by Judge Kohlsaat in the United States Circuit Court, John Arthur Fraser loses his chance of sharing in the $1,000,000 of gross receipts said to have been taken from the numerous performances of James Matthew Barrie's version of "The Little Minister." The decision turned on the interpretation of a contract by which the United States Book Company secured the right to publish Mr. Barrie's novel in the United States. Fraser, as the successor of the original purchaser, claimed the exclusive right to dramatize the book in this country and to receive all the profits. When the author of the novel and Manager Frohman placed another version of the story on the American stage, Mr. Fraser began his action to recover all the money that had been earned on the alleged pirated edition of the play. Judge Kohlsaat found that the contract granted only the sole right to publish, from the advance sheets, the novel in this country, but did not cover the question of dramatization.

TOLSTOI'S "WHO IS RIGHT?"

TOLSTOI'S new book, "Who is Right?" will be published in America and England before it is in Russia, although there are several typewritten copies of the manuscript in the hands of the author's friends from which extracts have been read in public. Should the book be published as above indicated it will, of course, have the benefit of the international copyright law, and there will be no pirated editions here until the work makes its appearance in a country not covered by the measure.

AMERICA AS A BOOK MARKET.

COL. GEO. B. M. HARVEY, the president of Harper & Bros., who returned on May 3 from a business trip to London and the continent, has given some interesting facts regarding publishing matters at home and abroad, in an interview in the New York Tribune.

"London publishers observed last year," Mr. Harvey is quoted as saying, "that the season was the duller than ever known—a fact which they attributed to the war in Africa. They looked for a boom as soon as public apprehension should be allayed. This happened some time ago, but the boom has not arrived. Indeed, the present season is notably less satisfactory than its predecessor. There simply does not exist in England to-day what American publishers would consider even a moderate demand for either books or periodicals. It is well known that one of the most conspicuous and apparently popular magazines in London has been in the market for some months because its proprietor has reached the conclusion that it cannot be published except at a loss—and no purchaser appears."

"This inaction may in some degree be charged to the war now drawing to a close, but surely not all or any material percentage. In my judgment it is very largely due to the fact that England is falling behind America in the development of new talent. Some of the older authors are still rendering the best literary service and are unapproachable along individual lines, but the promising young writer is becoming steadily more rare. One reason for this undoubtedly is that America holds out far greater inducements. A book that achieves the largest measure of success in the United States earns a fair fortune for the author, and one whose popularity we should regard as moderate yields excellent returns."

"This fact acts as a very potent incentive to most arduous endeavor, and the results are already apparent in the number of authors a few years ago unknown to the public, who have reached first place in popularity and emoluments in the last few years. Publishers naturally encourage such a tendency and the public promptly responds.

"It has but recently come to be understood in England that, coincident with her splendid development along other lines, the United States has become the great book market of the world. The Latin countries, of course, need not be considered. Put take as an example 'Eleanor'—a purely English book with English characters, English scenes and written by an English author. It was a great success in England, of course, as any book done by Mrs. Ward must be necessarily, and yet nearly three times as many were sold in America—and that without at any time holding the lead over all other books in point of sales. Moreover, during the recent stagnation in the trade in London the output of American publishers has increased nearly 40 per cent. But I am fully convinced that the keynote of success in American publishing is the American work by American authors.

PUBLISHERS ADOPT NET PRICES.

WILLIAM R. JENKINS.

WILLIAM R. JENKINS placed the veterinary publications of the house on a net basis in 1895, and announce their willingness to co-operate with the publishers in adopting a plan by which the publishing and bookselling business will become worth while for men ambitious to get on in the world rather than remain drudges all their days. "The Complete Pocket Guide to Europe for 1901" has been put upon the "net" list.

GEORGE W. JACOBS & CO.

GEORGE W. JACOBS & Co. have put their entire list on a "net" basis, adopting for their whole catalogue the plan suggested by the American Publishers' Association for new books, believing that if the plan is good it should be adopted in its entirety. They have mailed to the trade a new trade list, giving the net prices at which booksellers are required to sell them after May 1. This action is taken with the sole desire to make the business of the bookseller more profitable. The firm desire an expression of opinion from the trade.

THE WILLIAM BLACK MEMORIAL TOWER.

THE British Government has issued the following "Notice to Mariners," which has a decidedly literary flavor:

NORTHERN LIGHTHOUSES.

DUART POINT BEACON LIGHT,

ISLAND OF MULL, FIRTH OF LORNE.

"THE WILLIAM BLACK MEMORIAL LIGHT."

The Commissioners of Northern Lighthouses hereby give notice that on and after the night of Monday, 13th May, there will be shown from the William Black Memorial Tower, which has been erected near Duart Point, on a point 6 cables south of Duart Castle, a group-flashing light, showing three flashes in quick succession every 15 seconds.

"As the light will not be tended at night, too much reliance must not be placed on it."

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO.'S NEW QUARTERS.

MAY day was duly observed as "moving day" by Houghton, Mifflin & Co., who on that date began the removal of their New York offices from the old building they have occupied for twenty years in East Sixteenth Street to new quarters at 85 Fifth Avenue, corner of Sixteenth Street. The new offices occupy the entire second floor of a handsome modern building, and in arrangement and equipment they are models of their kind. A floor space of 8000 square feet has given ample facilities for the various departments, and has made it possible to carry out the plan of cutting off the business quarters from the attractive book rooms, with their pictures, wall cases and low-shelved tables.

The entire Fifth Avenue front is devoted to the display of fine lines of books and bindings, to the central "new book table," and to the Atlantic Monthly files. A small alcove room in the front corner is fitted up as a private library, with wall cases and fittings in dark oak, olive hangings and a rich crimson rug. Here are some fine portraits, and the shelves are filled with the beautiful limited and special editions published by the house. The Sixteenth Street side, which runs to a depth of 141 feet, is given to a suite of rooms for the resident members of the firm, for visiting members from the Boston office, for the Atlantic Monthly, and for various business purposes, as the subscription department, book-keepers and stenographers. Along the opposite wall, separated from the business suite by the cashier's quarters and a work room which occupy a central railed-off space, are rows of handsome shelves, on which are ranged the publications of the house. An interesting feature here is the railing off of two quiet and attractive rooms for visitors, one devoted to reference books and kindred works, the other forming a children's department of juvenile and educational books. In the latter, one case is given to the many delightful children's books that bear this firm's imprint, including the various editions of Hawthorne's "Wonder-book" and other children's classics, while row upon row of the various Riverside juvenile and educational series fill other cases. Here also there are pictures, most appropriate being the fine portrait of Kate Douglas Wiggin, which holds the place of honor in this children's corner. Ample and well-lighted quarters for the shipping department and stack room are found in the rear, where the building takes in a spacious L, running 182 feet north from Sixteenth Street. The woodwork throughout the offices is of quartered oak, and the rows of large windows that form practically the entire Fifth Avenue front and the Sixteenth Street side give an abundance of light throughout the floor.

PERSONAL NOTES.

ALFRED HAFNER, of G. Stechert & Co., sailed on the Oceanic on April 25, to attend the Ostermesse in Leipzig, which opened on May 6. He will also visit the firm's offices in Leipzig, London and Paris, make a short trip through Switzerland and Northern Italy, and will return in about six weeks.

THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE DINNER.

THE last dinner of the season was given by the Booksellers' League on Wednesday, May 8, at the rooms of the Aldine Association, 111 Fifth Avenue. The Entertainment Committee of the League always provides something new, and this time it was a strictly vegetarian dinner. About fifty members were present to entertain their special guests, Ernest H. Crosby, president of the Vegetarian Society of New York, an enthusiastic vegetarian, and James Clarence Harvey.

The menu was printed in green ink on a vegetable-colored sheet of blotting paper. It was as follows:

MENU.

	Cream of Asparagus
Olives	Celery	Radishes
	Braised Celery, Cream Sauce
	Spinach Patties
Lintel and Rice Croquettes,	Tomato Sauce
	Pinapple Sherbet
	Cauliflower Hollandaise
Creamed Bermuda Potatoes,	Parsley Sauce
	Chicory Salad
	Frozen Sago with Strawberries
	Assorted Cakes
	Coffee

Mr. S. Edgar Briggs, the newly-elected president of the League, before introducing the speakers of the evening, thanked the members for the honor they had conferred upon him. In the course of his remarks he said:

"This opening of the new century, it is confidently hoped, will prove to be the opening of a new era for our honored calling, not only in the large centres, but in the smaller. The new order of things inaugurated by the publishers this month should not be discounted by the bookseller, but should be accepted in the true spirit offered—NET—not the old misnomer "net," but as our English cousins would spell it, NETT—two T's tied taut. This League, as a body, is this evening to take official action of this long-looked-for event. As individuals we can materially help forward the movement by an optimistic consideration and application of the new scheme. Perhaps it is not as inclusive a scheme as we should have framed, but it surely is a long step in the right direction, and as such should be welcomed."

Mr. S. F. McLean offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted, and the secretary was instructed to mail a copy to both the American Publishers' Association and the American Booksellers' Association:

"The Booksellers' League, in meeting assembled, at their first Vegetarian Dinner, their heads being clear and their stomachs not cloyed with meat which doth make gross, felicitates itself and congratulates the American Publishers' Association and the American Booksellers' Association on the auspicious inauguration of the "No-Cut" plan in the book business.

"As an earnest of what yet remains to be done, in the spirit of fairness and equality in which it is offered, we heartily accept what has been accomplished, and pledge the moral and material support of the Booksellers'

League to the happy end when all branches of the profession shall mutually share in material benefit."

NEW YORK, May 8, 1901.

Mr. Briggs then introduced Mr. Crosby, the son of the well-known theologian.

Mr. Briggs made a happy speech on "Why Bookmen Should be Vegetarians." He claimed that all domestic animals were more or less unhealthy, and must breed disease in those who consumed them.

Mr. James Clarence Harvey recited a poem he had written especially for the occasion on "The Garden of Eden;" also an earlier poem of his on "The Cannibal Maid and the Missionary." One of the verses in the former poem ran as follows:

The Tree of Knowledge now has countless leaves,
"Returned Unsold." They come in shocks and sheaves,
With here and there, a glimpse of ripened fruit,
Which for an hour, the public seems to suit.
A "David Harum" swaps a balky horse,
And brags about the trade without remorse,
The publisher who coughed and hemmed and hawed,
Wakes up to send his family abroad.
An "Eben Holden" makes its author stare,
And sweeps the town with hayseed in his hair.
A Mary Johnstone learns "To Have and to Hold"
Her royalties in unexpected gold.
"Alice of Old Vincennes" arrives too late,
To fan the torch of fame, this side the gate
Which all must pass—and her creator dies
Just as his fingers close upon his prize.
"Monsieur Beaucaire," "The Palace of the King,"
And Mr. Dooley with its Celtic ring,
And not forgetting "Tales of the Ex-Tanks,"
Must all extend to you their hearty thanks.
They'd all be slumbering now, in calm repose,
Did you not thrust them 'neath the public's nose.
The public does not know just what to read,
They'll follow any literary lead.
They'll take "Love Letters" ably edited,
Or lacking those, they'll take "Unleavened Bread."

At the meeting of the Board of Managers Mr. Henry Hoyne and Mr. C. A. Montgomery, treasurer of the Vegetarian Society, were elected members.

The evening passed off very pleasantly, and all parted as satisfied as if they had had "the fatted calf" prepared for them.

REPRINT OF THE DIAL.

PLANS for the proposed reprint of The Dial by the Rowfant Club are now complete, and the first number will be ready at once. The reprint will be an exact reproduction of the original (published in Boston from 1840-44) even to the covers. Mr. George Willis Cooke, who is an acknowledged authority with regard to everything connected with The Dial, has been secured as editor. He will also prepare a supplementary volume to be of the same size and binding as the others, which will contain an account of the origin of the transcendental movement in this country; a history of the Transcendental Club, in which The Dial originated; a complete account of the editing and publication of The Dial, together with the correspondence connected therewith; details of the connection of the principal contributors to the magazine; biographical sketches of all the known lesser contributors; an account of the relations of the magazine to the Brook Farm and other movements of the day; the subsequent history of the periodical and other biographical items of interest and a complete index. In preparing this volume Mr. Cooke has had access to the unpublished correspondence of Emerson, Margaret Fuller, George Ripley and others, and has had the personal aid of Thomas Wentworth Higginson, Frank Sanborn, A. B. Alcott, and many other persons more or less intimately connected with this unique periodical and the transcendental movement in all its phases. This reprint is believed to be one of the most important ever undertaken by a book club in this country, and will attract wide attention from book-lovers and libraries generally.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MR. STEPHEN PHILLIPS'S poetical drama "Herod" will shortly be translated into French, German, Italian, Russian, and Swedish.

MRS. CRAIGIE—otherwise "John Oliver Hobbes"—is soon to revisit America. After that, it is said, she will go to India on a visit to the Curzons.

MRS. GERTRUDE ATHERTON is now in the Danish West Indies gathering data for the biography of Alexander Hamilton, upon which she is working.

THERE is a possibility—we doubt if it be a probability—that Thomas Hardy will lecture in this country. He is a man of reserved nature, and is not in the best of health.

MISS CHRISTABEL COLERIDGE, of Cheyne, Torquay, is to write the biography of the late Miss Charlotte M. Yonge. She will be glad of the loan of letters or papers relating to Miss Yonge's life.

A LIFE of Queen Alexandra is to be written by Mrs. Sarah Tooley, who has been in Denmark collecting material and obtaining fresh information from those who knew the Queen in her girlhood.

THE Nuova Antologia informs us that a museum of Nietzsche's works will be established at Weimar under the care of his sister, Mrs. Foerster, and his two executors, Drs. Hoegel and von den Hollen.

THOMAS WRIGHT, who is writing a new biography of Charles Dickens, says that he has an immense mass of material dealing with the first twenty years of Dickens's life—material quite unknown to the novelist's principal biographer, John Forster.

RICHARD BAGOT, an English writer, known as the author of a novel called "A Roman Mystery," published a couple of years ago, has written another, "Casting of Nets," which John Lane will publish. It deals with Roman Catholicism, and has already attracted some attention in London.

G. C. MACAULAY, having finished for the Clarendon Press his editions of the poet

Gower's French "Speculum Meditantis" and English "Confessio Amantis," is now preparing an edition, from the best four mss., of the Latin "Vox Clamantis," Gower's poem on the social condition of the England of his day.

FREDERIC HARRISON, during his recent visit to this country, delivered an address at Harvard University on "The Writings of King Alfred" which has been issued in pamphlet form by the Macmillans. Stopford Brooke has pronounced King Alfred, who died in 901, "the creator and then the father of English prose literature."

JOHN OXENHAM dedicates to Captain Dreyfus his forthcoming novel, "Our Lady of Deliverance," to be published by Henry Holt & Co. Mr. Oxenham's plot has nothing to do with Dreyfus's experiences, but these suggested to him the idea of a man secretly and unjustly persecuted, who is helped by the devotion of a courageous woman.

BENJAMIN SWIFT, the novelist, is about to publish another book, but not under the pseudonym of "Swift." The title-page of this work, to be called "The Eternal Conflict," will bear his real name, W. R. Paterson. The volume is mentioned as a survey of the state of modern knowledge, with special reference to human conduct. It gives the inner experiences of a modern mind which has lost hold of the orthodox beliefs and has attempted to restate the problems of life and knowledge in an unconventional way.

HAMILTON DRUMMOND, the author of "A King's Pawn," now commencing to appear on the lists of the best selling novels, is a cousin of the late Professor Henry Drummond, and as a citizen of Dublin is prominent in various circles of activity. During the late Queen's last visit to Dublin he took a prominent part in the ceremonies of welcome. His name appears in the list of directors of several large business enterprises, and for years he has been honorable secretary of the Royal Horticultural Society.

MAUD HOWARD PETERSON, the author of "The Potter and the Clay," just issued by Lothrop Publishing Company, comes of good literary stock. Her grandfather was Charles J. Peterson, editor and principal stockholder of Peterson's Magazine and friend and patron of the leading literary men of the fifties and sixties; her granduncle was T. B. Peterson, the well-known publisher of Philadelphia. Miss Peterson has the "literary habit" from an early age, but "The Potter and the Clay" is her first complete book. It is another brilliant example of what our young writers are accomplishing.

DR. GEORGE MACDONALD, preacher, novelist, and poet, has retired to the seclusion of his home in Bordighera, Italy. He was born in Huntley, Scotland, in 1824, and a movement is now afoot there to commemorate his connection with the place and present the venerable author of "The Annals of a Quiet Neighborhood," "Robert Falconer," "Wilfred Cumbermede," and "The Marquis of Lossie" with some token of appreciation. No preacher has ever drawn larger congregations, although he had his own mystical interpretation for many of the doctrines of the English Church and of Presbyterianism.

PROFESSOR ISAAC TAYLOR HEADLAND, of Peking University, who remained in this country long enough to witness the large appreciation shown his "Chinese Mother Goose Rhymes," a unique child's book, sailed from Vancouver to resume his duties at the university in China. It is understood that before sailing Professor Headland left in the hands of the Fleming H. Revell Company the MS of his new book, "The Chinese Boy and Girl," which will be published early next fall. It gives, in addition to the games played by the boys and girls of China, the toys, children's shows and entertainments, stories told to children, juvenile jugglery, etc. The two books undoubtedly form a great contribution to the folk-lore of China.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Record-Herald, of Chicago, has begun a monthly literary supplement, which is to be illustrated from the new books and give a full survey of the new publications, besides giving room to much original matter of literary subjects.

THE Chicago Tribune announced this week that "The Breadwinners," published anonymously in 1883, was written by Miss Ida Harris, of Champaign, Ill., daughter of B. F. Harris, president of the First National Bank of Champaign.

The Atlantic Monthly for May has a valuable contribution on "Productive Scholarship in America," by Hugo Münsterberg; and two very fine articles under the general heading "Our Literature Once More," separately entitled "American Prose Style," by J. D. Logan; and "The Distinction of Our Poetry," by Josephine Dodge Daskam. Charles Henry Webb also furnishes a telling poem on "An Age of Ink."

The Edinburgh Review for April, in reviewing Lippmann's "The Art of Wood-Engraving in Italy in the Fifteenth Century," Gleeson White's "English Illustration: the Sixties," and Laurence Binyon's "Western Flanders," with etchings by William Strang, gives much valuable information from the historic and artistic standpoint under the heading "Woodcuts and the Illustration of Books." There is also an article on Maurice Maeterlinck, "Moralist and Artist."

THE New York Journal and Advertiser issues a supplement every Saturday morning in which new books are reviewed by such authors of mark as Julian Hawthorne, Edwin Markham, Edgar Fawcett, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, F. Marion Crawford, James L. Ford, Alan Dale, Carolyn Wells, Jeannette L. Gilder, Dorothy Dix, Richard Le Gallienne, and many more equally well known. Publishers must acknowledge such a widely-selling paper a great help in selling books.

THE Philadelphia Times was purchased on May 7 by Adolph S. Ochs, the principal publisher and owner of the N. Y. Times. Mr.

Ochs has associated with him his brother, George W. Ochs, of The Chattanooga Times, who will now make his residence in Philadelphia and will assume the duties of general manager of the property. To its Philadelphia namesake the Times will extend the benefits of its news service, and by co-operation and exchange in the news field of the world the two journals will be enabled to offer to their readers in their respective communities a chronicle of daily events of satisfactory completeness. Although consolidation is the order of the day, the Times of New York and the Times of Philadelphia are not consolidated.

PICK-UPS.

LEARNING MADE EASY.—Willie Schermerhorn—Say, have you read any of these historical novels?

Sammy Stuyvesant—Yep. Gee, I wish there was grammatical novels, and novels on spelling and 'rithmetic, so we could learn everything that way and not have to go to school!—Brooklyn Eagle.

ENTERPRISE VS. ART.—Following the optimism of Mr. Archer and Mr. Hardy on literary criticism, a letter received by the Frederick Stokes Company comes as an amusing exception of enterprise versus art. The occasion for the communication originated in the desire of one of the Syracuse newspapers to favor Mr. Charles Sherlock's book, "Your Uncle Lew," with an early review. That they succeeded beyond the expectations of the publishers may be judged by the following:

The Frederick Stokes Company:

GENTLEMEN—Enclosed please find notice of Mr. Sherlock's book printed in the ——— yesterday. I did not get the copy until 2.30 P.M., and we had to go to press at 3.30, or I could have done better. Hoping you will be satisfied with the notice."

May we add that the hour employed so industriously resulted in a four-column notice of the book, and that the energy of this reviewer may be explained by the fact that Mr. Sherlock is a Syracuse man.

HIS EXTENSIVE PROGRAMME.—"My idea," said the ambitious young author, "is to write a historical novel."

"Yes?"

"Then to dramatize the historical novel."

"Yes?"

"Then to write a magazine article to tell how I came to dramatize the historical novel."

"Yes?"

"Then to dramatize the magazine article."

"Ah!"

"And to write a magazine article telling how I came to dramatize the magazine article."

"Good!"

"Then to dramatize the second magazine article."

"Excellent! Excellent!"

"And then to write"——

"Oh! I understand the scheme! Fine programme—if the public will stand for it!"—Puck.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE LUTHERAN PUBLICATION SOCIETY have issued "Climbing Olivet," talks to applicants for confirmation by the Rev. Edwin Heyl Delk.

JAMIESON-HIGGINS Co. have just issued "Peck's Red-Headed Boy," by George W. Peck; and "The Royal Road," by Marion Harland.

F. M. BUCKLES & COMPANY have just issued "A State Secret and Other Stories," by B. M. Croker, including some of the author's happiest efforts.

BRENTANO'S have issued a neat little pamphlet "About Book Plates," by Haydon Jones, with admirably printed specimens of that artist's own work.

THE LAUREL PRESS is preparing a limited luxurious edition of the "Amoretti or Love Sonnets of Edmund Spenser," each sonnet embellished with a decorative initial.

L. C. PAGE & Co. will issue during May "Manasseh," by Maurus Jokai, translated by B. F. Bicknell, an absorbing story of life among a happy and primitive people in far Transylvania.

W. R. RUSSELL & Co., Limited, have published "Everybody's Ready Reckoner," the new volume in the popular Everybody's Series, of which series upwards of three millions have been sold.

M. F. MANSFIELD & Co. have just ready "Realms of Gold," a student's book of English literature, by John Dennis, in the form of a succession of familiar talks covering from Chaucer to Tennyson.

THE ABBEY PRESS, New York, has just ready "Uno Who," a story by Elizabeth Stoughton Gale-White; and "A Country Store Window," by Herbert Holmes, a volume of poems on every conceivable topic.

JOHN WILEY & SONS have just ready "The Economic Disposal of Towns' Refuse," by W. Francis Goorich, with seventy-five illustrations and numerous tables. Publishers will send the book on receipt of retail price.

THE SCIENTIFIC PUBLISHING Co. have just issued "Traverse Tables," by Henry Louis and George William Gannt, with an introductory chapter on co-ordinate surveying, which will prove of utmost practical advantage to mining engineers.

E. W. PORTER, St. Paul, Minn., has just issued "The Early Empire Builders of the Great West," by Moses K. Armstrong, one of our pioneer Congressmen. The book is compiled and enlarged from the author's "Early History of Dakota Territory in 1866."

THE AMERICAN NEWS Co. control two successful books which have been extensively advertised—"The Story of Sarah," by M. Louise Forsslund; and "Nell Gwyn—Comedian," a novel by F. Frankfort Moore. These books now rank among the best sellers.

CASSELL & Co. have just ready "The Wisdom of Esau," by C. H. Chomley and R. M.

Outhwaite, a story of the wonderland of Australia, which always has a special fascination for Americans; and "Oral Sepsis as a Cause of Disease," by Dr. William Hunter senior physician in the London Fever Hospital.

THE MUTUAL BOOK Co., Boston, will issue shortly Eugene Field's "The Tribune Primer," with illustrations by Oppen. In addition the book will contain "A Little Book of Nonsense," "The Two Friars," "James and Reginald," and "The Awful Bugaboo," all among the very best things of the lamented author.

A. S. BARNES & Co. have just ready "Home Thoughts," selections from the essays which under this title have attracted so much notice in the Saturday edition of the N. Y. Evening Post; and "Atoms and Energies," by Rev. D. A. Murray, for some time government instructor in the schools of Japan, a book said to be quite radical in its conclusions.

D. VAN NOSTRAND COMPANY have just issued the second volume of Professor Francis B. Croker's "Electric Lighting," intended for technical schools and the practising engineer. The appendix contains the national electric code and the report of the Committee on Standardization, embodying the rules that should govern the construction and operation of any electrical system.

THE AMERICAN LIBRARY ASSOCIATION holds its twenty-third general meeting at Waukesha, Wis., beginning July 3, 1901. The morning of Tuesday, July 9, will be devoted to book copyright, book importation, trusteeship of literature, relation of publishers, booksellers and librarians. It is expected that several representative publishers and booksellers will attend this session.

THE DELBRIDGE Co., St. Louis, Mo., carry in stock every interest table, interest book, foreign exchange table or form of mathematical book that is published, and many that have been out of print for years. They will send at their expense anything wanted in that line on thirty days' trial. Books of this nature are in universal use among bankers and business houses, and are a wonderful help.

SPON & CHAMBERLAIN have just ready a second edition, thoroughly revised, greatly enlarged and brought up to the latest American practice, of "Induction Coils and Coil Making," by Norman H. Schneider (H. S. Norrie). A complete chapter on up-to-date wireless telegraphy, and new material on X-ray work, etc., are among the important additions. An excellent index has also been added.

THE BAKER & TAYLOR COMPANY offer the following books by William M. Bryant, instructor in psychology and ethics in the St. Louis Normal and High School: "Life Death and Immortality and Kindred Essays," "The World-Energy and Its Self-Conservation," "The Philosophy of Landscape Painting," "Hegel's Educational Ideas," "A Syllabus of Ethics," and "Ethics and the New Education."

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have ready a new and revised edition of "The Niagara Book," by W. D. Howells, Mark Twain, Prof. Shaler and others, first issued in 1893. The photographs with which the book is illustrated are many of them the work of amateurs. New matter has been made into Part III., which relates to Buffalo and the Pan-American Exposition, and there is a very good map of the city of Buffalo included.

D. C. HEATH & Co. will hereafter issue Heath's Home and School Classics at monthly intervals. There will be twenty-seven numbers, furnishing reading suitable from infancy to adolescence. This material will later be furnished bound in twenty-three volumes. The books which are brought out in paper and cloth include some of the best known works of Miss Edgeworth, Miss Mulock, Miss Martineau, and Motley, and many of the plays of Shakespeare.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have in preparation "Royal Rogues," by Alberta Bancroft, a series of three fairy stories about the same characters; "The Papal Monarchy," by Dr. William Barry, who although best known in America as a novelist, is a scholar of great erudition, who is said to cover 700 years of papal rule in a masterly manner; "On Board a Whaler," by T. W. Hammond, an old whaler himself; and "The Story of Greece," by E. S. Shuckburgh.

AMONG the newest books of D. Appleton & Co. are "The Luck of the Vails," a romance by E. F. Benson, author of "Dodo;" "The Mills of the Gods," a story by Elinor McCarthey Lane; "The Curious Courtship of Kate Poins," a romance of the Regency, by Louis Evan Shipman; and "From the Unsounded Sea," by Nellie K. Blisset, the latest addition to the Town and Country Library. They have also new editions of Maclay's "History of the U. S. Navy," Schuyler Mathews' "Familiar Leaves and Familiar Flowers," and Julien Gordon's "His Letters."

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just ready "The Hall of Fame," by Henry Mitchell McCracken, chairman of the N. Y. University Senate, being the official book authorized by the N. Y. University Senate as a statement of the origin and constitution of the Hall of Fame, and of its history up to the close of the year 1890. The volume is divided in two parts, the first being devoted to a history and inception and development of the idea and giving full votes received from the electors; the second presenting brief biographies of the twenty-nine men elected. This house has also "The Improvement of Towns and Cities," by Charles Mulford Robinson; and "Logics," by George H. Smith.

THE DIRECTORS OF THE OLD SOUTH WORK, Boston, have just issued No. 112 of Old South Leaflets, entitled "King Alfred's Description of Europe," the first chapter of King Alfred's translation of "Orosius," with his original insertions. The present year is the millennial of the death of Alfred the Great, who was born, according to accepted authorities, in 849, and died in 901. A great celebration of the millennial of his birth was held at Wantage, his birthplace, in 1849. A more impressive commemoration will be held at Winchester this year, and a magnificent monument will then be dedicated. No. 113 of the leaflets is "Augustine in England," from King Alfred's version of the Ven-Bede's "Ecclesiastical History of the English Nation."

R. H. RUSSELL, New York, has nearly ready "The Rose of Dawn," a narrative poem singing a romance of the Southern Sea, by Helen Hay, with frontispiece by John La Farge; "The Paradise of Children," by Nathaniel Hawthorne; and "Theatre Programmes and Souvenirs Book," intended for the many who desire to save permanently their theatre programmes and records. The volume will contain places for forty-five programmes and fifty-four illustrations. It will be handsomely printed and elegantly bound either in cloth or in full morocco. Two of this publisher's books appear on its list of fifty books of 1900 selected by the New York State librarians, "Mr. Dooley's Philosophy," by F. Peter Dunne; and the English translation of Edmond Rostand's "L'Aiglon."

DODD, MEAD & Co. have in hand a book of short stories by Caroline Duer, entitled "Unconscious Comedians," which has attracted great attention in the Smart Set and other magazines. This house now controls the Author's edition of John Uri Lloyd's "Etidorhpa," of which Henry Irving wrote to the author: "Let me thank you most heartily for sending me the copy of your wonderful book, 'Etidorhpa,' which I shall ever value. I may state that, when by chance I found it in Cincinnati, I read it with the greatest interest and pleasure, and was so struck by it that I have sent copies to several friends of mine here and at home. Dodd, Mead & Co. have secured all the copies of 'The Tribune Primer,' by Eugene Field, privately printed at the Marion Press, which contains forty-four sketches printed for the first time in book form, and must be owned by every collector of first editions of Field.

WHILE "Quincy Adams Sawyer" is still forging ahead, always moving forward toward the goal it seems destined to reach among the "big sellers" the announcement of "out soon" is being made in regard to the forthcoming romance, "Blennerhassett," by the same author, Charles Felton Pidgin. The author believes that his readers will agree with him that there is not to be found in early American history a more truly romantic character than Aaron Burr—one whose career and associations and ambitions were more romantic. He is the central figure around whom he has woven what is promised as a stirring romance which concerns Burr's great love for his daughter, Theodosia, his visits with Harman Blennerhassett and his wife Margaret at their beautiful island home, his plans formulated there, his political difficulties with President Thomas Jefferson and Alexander Hamilton, his duel with Hamilton, his reception at the hands of Napoleon and his so-called "dream of empire."

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have ready a second edition of "Famous American Belles of the Nineteenth Century," in response to an increased demand for Miss Virginia Tattall Peacock's clever biographical work. "That Mainwaring Affair" during the week past went into another edition—the fifth. The popularity of Mrs. Barbour's detective story shows no signs of waning, although the book started somewhat slowly. During the next two weeks J. B. Lippincott Company expect also to issue a second edition of "The Source and Mode of Solar Energy," by Dr. J. W. Heysinger, with a new twenty-six-page preface; and Col. A. K. McClure's narrative of travel and observation, entitled "To the Pacific and Mexico." The attention recently called to Mr. Burton E. Stevenson, whose work in romantic fiction is earning for him an enviable reputation, has created a fresh demand for his clever novel of the days of the Cellamare conspiracy, "At Odds With the Regent," which recently went into another edition.

FOREIGN NOTES.

G. HEDELER, Leipzig, will shortly issue the German Verbatim edition of "The Copyright Laws and Treaties of All Countries" materially enlarged and revised by Prof. Ernst Röthlisberger, secretary of the International Bureaux for Intellectual Property. Review copies of the work will be sent only on application.

OWING to the enormous growth of the Isaac Pitman system and consequent increased sales of publications, Messrs. Isaac Pitman & Sons have just completed plans for the enlargement of the Phonetic Institute at Bath, England. The extension, when completed, will more than double the size of their present works.

JOHN EDWARD C. BODLEY'S French edition of his admirable book on "France" has just been published in Paris. Two translations made for him were so unsatisfactory that after they were in print he declined to use them, and proceeded to do the work himself. His forthcoming work on the "Church in France" has been delayed by this labor on the preceding volume.

"COLLOQUIES OF CRITICISM" is the title of a volume which Fisher Unwin will issue next week, the publication of which will add to the literary mysteries of the day, for Mr. Unwin is not allowed to know anything of his author save that he is a famous man of letters. The book is essentially a book for the reading public. It discusses such questions as why novels of village and lower life are popular; the secret of the popularity of Scott and Dickens; Jane Austen, minor poets, their minds and manners; and many kindred subjects.

THE late Sir William Fraser bequeathed $125,000 for the purpose of erecting a home for needy authors and artists. It is to be built near Edinburgh in a place called Colinton. It is planned to have the institution in the form of twelve separate houses and an "administrative block," forming three sides of a square. Sir William's intentions were no doubt praiseworthy, but it seems doubtful that so many authors and artists can find each other's nearness productive of real happiness. His charity might have been put to more far-seeing use.

ARRESTS have been made in Paris of those concerned in offering duplicates of the Paris Exposition medals, in circulars, which caused the reader to understand that medals would not be distributed by the French government, but that the concern sending out the circulars had been charged by that government with supplying to holders of diplomas at their individual cost medals which they had expected to receive from the government. American book exhibitors will, as before stated, receive their medals in due course through the official channels.

BEGINNING in April, Archibald Constable & Co., London, will issue each month in eight parts "The Stall-Plates of the Knights of the Order of the Garter, 1348-1485," a series of ninety full-sized colored facsimiles, with descriptive notes and historical introductions by W. H. St. John Hope, M.A. The subjects are "the splendid enamelled and painted gilt-metal plates affixed to the backs of the stalls in the quire of St. George's Chapel, Windsor," and constituting "one of the most remarkable displays of mediæval armory to be found in Europe." Paul R. Reynolds, 70 Fifth Avenue, is agent for the work in this country.

THE ASSOCIATION OF GERMAN LIBRARIES (Versammlung Deutscher Bibliothekare) will hold its general meeting at Gotha, Germany, May 30 and 31, 1901. The program will include reports from the executive committee and the special committee on library statistics; and papers on the librarian and the publisher, a bibliography of periodical literature for 1896, the purchase of complete libraries, practical methods of protection for bindings and pamphlets, etc. Prof. Ewald, librarian at Gotha, will describe the Herzogliche Bibliothek of that city, and Herr Molitor, of Münster, will speak of "Traces of German travelling printers as found in Italian libraries and archives." There will be visits of inspection to the libraries of Gotha, and the usual social features, including the annual dinner of the association.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents a line.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office should either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

 In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

 Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

——EXTRAORDINARY NOVEL

THE WHITE
COTTAGE

By ZACK

"IF we were asked to name any fiction that we have read for several years past that we would select as a sure test of the literary intelligence and judgment of its readers, and as a positive revelation of the genius of its author, it would be 'The White Cottage,' which places Miss Gwendoline Keats (Zack) in the forefront of all living Englishwomen who are known to write fiction of any kind, if not before all her sisterhood in instinctive knowledge of and profound sympathy with the primitive elements of consciousness and conduct, which constitute manhood and womanhood in their state of nature—innate, individual, simple, direct, vigorous, determined, unchangeable, the be all and the end all of their mortal, human lives. . . . Don't take our word for it, or anybody's word, but give your most careful reading and your most loving understanding to the power, the pathos, and the art of this remarkable, this incomparable book."—New York Mail and Express.

This book and Mrs. Wharton's CRUCIAL INSTANCES are representative of the highest and most lasting type of fiction, and may be safely recommended as such.

EVERY INCH A KING

By JOSEPHINE C. SAWYER

THE NEW YORK TIMES says:

"This love story, through which the leading characters tread with such rare grace, is a sweet and pleasing one, happily lacking in all those scenes of bloodshed and violence which have so often filled the pages of modern fiction. The historical background of the story is well maintained also, and the whole book seems written with a loving interest and care which adds much to the sincerity of the author's purpose.

"There is grace of style about it, too. The stately diction of the fifteenth century is well maintained, and each sentence is rounded and finished in a charmingly musical manner. One cannot speak too highly of the purity of the tale, which should gain for the book a widespread interest apart from any historical merit it may possess."

Here one moves in the society of the old nobility

The nobility of the Beauforts, the Mortimers, the Straffords, so completely destroyed by "The Wars of the Roses"

Here is a strife between good and evil with "love" as victor

But it is not chiefly a story of duels and hairbreadth escapes, but a good love, hate, and victory story

TO THE TRADE.

MAY 1ST, 1901.

We have put our entire list on a net basis, adopting for our whole catalogue the plan suggested by the American Publishers' Association for new books, on the principle that if the plan is a good one it should be adopted in its entirety.

We have mailed to the trade a copy of our new trade list, giving the net price on each of our publications, at which price booksellers are required to sell them after this date.

This action has been taken with the sole desire to make the business of the bookseller more profitable, and we bespeak the interest and co-operation of all in our effort.

We shall be glad to have an expression of opinion from you with regard to the action we have taken.

A Book of Bryn Mawr Stories.

Edited by MARGARETTA MORRIS and LOUISE BUFFUM CONGDON. 12mo, cloth. With decorative title page and artistic cover design. Price, $1.20 net; by mail, $1.35.

A collection of college stories of more than ordinary worth, told by some of the alumnae and undergraduates of Bryn Mawr College; entertaining, vivacious, and giving a true picture of Bryn Mawr life.

Psychic Power in Preaching.

By J. SPENCER KENNARD, D.D. Edited with Memoir by his son, JOSEPH SPENCER KENNARD. With Frontispiece of Dr. Kennard. Crown 8vo, cloth. Price, $1.20 net; by mail, $1.35.

A prominent Literary Critic to whom the manuscript was submitted has this to say of "Psychic Power in Preaching":

It seems to me to have a distinct field. The richness and fulness of the diction can only be the result of mature and practiced powers. There is abundant evidence that the author is soundly and well anchored, conservative, orthodox, settled. He is deeply in earnest, has a fascinating and pleasing literary style and finish, and abounds in apt historical illustrations. From my point of view, it is a book that must and will get itself published, read and talked about.

A HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

By FRANCIS NEWTON THORPE, Ph.D.

Author of "A Constitutional History of the American People," "The Constitutional History of the United States." etc.

12mo, with Maps and Index. $1.50

An enjoyable work for busy men and women as well as the best compendium of American history for the student that has yet appeared.

Professor Thorpe's name is familiar to every student of history as the author of a number of exhaustive, scholarly works, as well as through his work as a lecturer on history. This new book, however, is of much more general interest than any that he has yet written, for it fills a gap in our literature which the late Moses Coit Tyler pointed out—the need for a one volume history of our country which is at once exact in scholarship and readable as literature.

Professor Thorpe has been working on this book for the last nine years, and it contains the fruits of careful examination of original sources, of matured reflection on historical problems and of that practical experience in addressing the public which enables the author to present his subject in the clearest light and in the most attractive manner.

A POWERFUL NOVEL.

The Romance of Gilbert Holmes.

By MARSHALL MONROE KIRKMAN.

SELLING BY THOUSANDS.

"The Romance of Gilbert Holmes" will find a permanent place in twentieth century literature. It is remarkable for the purity of its English; its choice and rhythmic diction; its profound character analyses, and its charming nature descriptions - unsurpassed in our language. The exquisite love story that runs through its pages makes the book appeal to the taste and sympathy of all mankind.

The author is the first writer to enshrine our national heroes, Abraham Lincoln and Jefferson Davis, in the legendary lore of our country; to portray them free from the incrustations and scars of politics; to speak of them as they were—tender and true; to reach their inner lives, showing their lofty and ideal aspirations. He strips from them the cerements in which superficial writers and the cold historian have hidden their personality. He speaks of Lincoln as the poet and man, and of Davis in his youth, as the magnificent and chivalrous soul he was. So, too, he portrays the renowned Sac Chieftain, Black Hawk, in colors as vivid as those Cooper would have used.

"The daring venture of introducing these men in a romance has been crowned with success."—The Philadelphia Press

"Told with captivating power."—Rt. Rev. WILLIAM E. McLAREN, Bishop of Chicago.

"A Thanatopsis in Prose."—Boston Post.

"Chaste, pure, elegant."—New York Times.

"Of surpassing interest."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

"Whenever opened something beautiful is found."—Christian Nation, N. Y.

The New York Journal's Saturday Review

Goes into the home; it is kept on file by the lovers of books; it is read by the trade; it stimulates interest in new publications and promotes the sale of good literature.

The publishers are no doubt indebted to the daily press for the phenomenal popularity of much of their recent fiction. Our large cheap dailies that get into the hands of the masses fire their curiosity with their reports about the new successful novels. Readers of newspapers become impatient; they cannot wait for the circulating library, and they begin to buy books, which they keep, and soon they take pride in adding all the talked-of "sellers" to their collection. A paper that prints 250,000 copies every Saturday morning is naturally a large factor in "pushing sales."—Publishers' Weekly, May 4.

The New York Journal's Saturday Review

Has a far greater circulation than any other weekly book review ever published. A book advertisement in it will be read by more people than would read the same advertisement in any other publication.

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY

Reference List of New Publications

JANUARY—APRIL, 1901

MONTHLY CUMULATION, MAY, 1901

This Reference List enters the books recorded during the month under (1) author, in Clarendon type; anonymous books having Clarendon type for the first word; (2) title in Roman; (3) subject-heading in SMALL CAPS; (4) name of series in Italics. After the date of publication is stated the number of "The Publishers' Weekly" in which the full title (with descriptive note in the case of most books received), is recorded; for full particulars, see such Weekly Record. Where not specified, the binding is cloth.

The Annual Literary Index, 1900

Including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book-Chapters, etc.; with Author-Index, Bibliographies, Necrology, and Index to Dates of Principal Events. Edited by W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. BOWKER, with the co-operation of members of the American Library Association and of the Library Journal staff.

THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX complements the "Annual American Catalogue" of books, published each year, by indexing (1) articles in periodicals published during the year of its issue; (2) essays and book-chapters in composite books; (3) authors of periodical articles and essays; (4) special bibliographies; (5) authors deceased; (6) dates of principal events during the year. The two volumes together make a complete record of the literary product of the year.

"Of great value to all who would keep advised of the topics and writers in the periodical literature of the day."—Universalist Quarterly.

"Good indexing could no further go"—The Nation.

One vol., cloth, $3.50, net.

Bibliographic Publications.

For all American books as they appear, take THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY; for an hour's glance each month at the important books and magazine papers, take LITERARY NEWS; for library matters take THE LIBRARY JOURNAL; for magazine articles in general, consult THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX; for books in print or issued of late years, see THE AMERICAN and ANNUAL CATALOGUES.

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY. Established in 1872, with which was incorporated the American Literary Gazette and Publishers' Circular (established in 1852.) Recognized as the representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States. Contains full weekly record of American publications, with monthly indexes, etc. Subscription, $3.00 a year, postpaid; to foreign countries, postpaid, $4.00 a year; single numbers, 10 cents, postpaid.

THE LIBRARY JOURNAL. Official Organ of the American Library Association. Chiefly devoted to library economy and bibliography. Established in 1876. Published monthly. Subscription, $5.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 50 cents. Price to Europe, or other countries in the Union, 20s a year; single numbers, 2s. (LITERARY NEWS is sent free to subscribers of THE LIBRARY JOURNAL.) Teachers may be interested in the "School Number" published in the spring of each year.

GENERAL INDEX TO THE LIBRARY JOURNAL, vols. 1-22, 1876-1897. Arranged to serve as an index to succeeding volumes or for other sources of professional information. 4° in sheets, or paper binding, $2.50; A. L. A. half leather, $3.00.

LITERARY NEWS. A Monthly Journal of Current Literature. Contains the freshest news concerning books and authors; lists of new publications; reviews and critical comments; characteristic extracts; sketches and anecdotes of authors; bibliographical references; prominent topics of the magazines; portraits of authors, and illustrations from the newest books, etc., etc. Subscription, $1.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 10 cents.

THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE of books in print and for sale July 1, 1876, compiled under the direction of F. LEYFOLDT, and its supplements, 1876-84, 1884-90, 1890-95, and 1895-1900, compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER, aims to present all the bibliographical features of the books in the American market, arranged in the first part alphabetically by both authors and titles, and in the second part alphabetically by subjects.

The Catalogue and its supplementary volumes form the only approximately complete guide in existence to the American books of the day, so arranged as to make reference easy from whatever direction the inquiry may come, whether from that of the author, or the title, or the subject. It not only furnishes the desired information about any particular book of which the consulter is in search, but shows what others there are by the same author or on the same subject in which he is interested. To the bookseller, therefore, it is valuable both in filling orders and in stimulating business; to the librarian, in supplying gaps and proportioning his collection; and to all who are practically concerned with books, in furnishing information which nowhere else is obtainable by so convenient a method, if obtainable at all.

The author-and-title volume of the 1876 volume is out of print. A limited number of the subject volume may be had in half leather binding at $15.

The volume covering the period 1876-84 is also out of print.

—, 1884-90, 4°, hf. mor., $25.

—, 1890-95, 4°, hf. mor., $15.

—, 1895-1900, 4°, hf. mor., $12.50; sheets, $10, if ordered and paid for in advance. (Pts. 1 and 2, Author-and-Title Alphabet, A-Z, now ready. Pt. 3, Subject Alphabet, in preparation.)

THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE.

Being the full titles, with descriptive notes, of all books recorded in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY during the calendar year, with author, title, and subject index, publishers' annual lists and directory of publishers. Published annually since 1886. 8vo, sheets, net, $3.00; half morocco, $3.50.

THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX, including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book-Chapters, etc., with Author-Index, Bibliographies, Necrology and Index to Dates of Principal Events. Edited, with the coöperation of members of the American Library Association and of The Library Journal staff, by W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. BOWKER. 8°, cloth, $3.50.

THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL. Contains: The latest catalogues of nearly 200 American publishers, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the firm-names and smaller lists at the end of the volume. These lists, all bound in one volume arranged alphabetically for ready reference, with marginal index, guiding the finger at once to the right letter, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase or sale of books. Large 8vo, with "Duplex Index," cloth, net, $2.00.

THE AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE. Contains a price-list of all the text-books in use in the United States, arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject. 8vo, leatherette, 50 cents.

THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE [Annual] giving full titles classified under author and subject in one strict alphabet, with particulars of the size, price, month of publication, and name of publisher of the books issued in Great Britain and Ireland, in the calendar year, being a continuation of the "London" and "British" Catalogues. [London: Sampson Low, Marston & Co.] 8vo, paper, net, $1.50. THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE and THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE bound in one volume, half leather, $5.00.

PUBLICATIONS OF SOCIETIES: a provisional list of the publications of American scientific, literary, and other societies from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Schedules over 1100 societies issuing publications, and gives title-entries of all their publications, as far as data could be obtained from the societies and from libraries. 4°, paper, $2.50; cloth, $3.00.

STATE PUBLICATIONS: a provisional list of the official publications of the several States of the United States from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Pt. 1: New England States—Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut. 4°, $2.00. (For complete work, $5.00.)

LIST OF AMERICAN PUBLISHERS, 1890-1895. The street address is given in nearly every case, and the abbreviation under which the firm's books are entered in the "American Catalogue," 1890-95. 4to, pap., $2.00.

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT PUBLICATIONS. July 1, 1890 to June 30, 1895. Compiled, under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER, by J. H. HICKCOX. 60 pp., 4to, pap., $1.50.

THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL LIBRARY. By Rev. A. E. DUNNING. 16mo, cloth, 60 cents.

THE PROFESSION OF BOOKSELLING: a handbook of practical hints for the apprentice and bookseller. By A. GROWOLL, managing editor of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, and author of "A Bookseller's Library," "Book-trade Bibliography in the United States in the XIXth Century," etc. Pts. 1 and 2. 134 p. Large 8°, bds., each, $2.00. (Concluding part in preparation.)
